▶▶▶▶ What is Sublimation?

Sublimated clothing refers to garments created using a technique called sublimation printing. This method involves transferring dye into the fabric using heat and pressure. Unlike traditional printing methods, sublimation dye actually becomes part of the fabric itself rather than sitting on top of it. This results in vibrant, long-lasting designs that won't fade, crack, or peel.

Sublimation opens up a world of design possibilities limited only by your imagination. From intricate patterns and bold graphics to photo-realistic prints and seamless all-over designs, this cutting-edge technique allows for unparalleled precision and vibrancy. With sublimation, you can experiment with unlimited logos, names, numbers, colors, gradients, and intricate details, knowing the results will remain sharp and fade-resistant over time.
